The new French region of Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur has got to be the most famous in the world, and there's good reason for it. Not just the climate, but the countryside that inspired many artists and writers. Go from the Opulence of Monte Carlo to the rugged hills and valleys behind. Golf, tennis and sailing never too far away. This town being just one of the jewels, made famous by Picasso: this apartment, behind the coast, but never far from the bright lights down on the Mediterranean. Nice Airport is about 30 minutes away, while Cannes station is 15 minutes. Both these towns of course are internationally well known and so is Antibes, with its historic old town and quaint covered market, not forgetting the Picasso Museum on the coast. Never far from smart shops, cafés, restaurants and supermarkets. Lots of daily markets in the charming villages behind Grasse, as well.
