Property Description

This spacious south-facing villa offers a well-conceived floorplan that optimises space and light, a wonderfully landscaped garden, and a private swimming pool area. The property lies within walking distance of the village of Roussillon. The ground floor comprises: small foyer; large kitchen with breakfast table and French windows leading out on to the covered terrace; utility room; south-facing dining room; sitting room with fireplace; double bedroom currently used as a home office; shower room with guest loo. Terracotta tiles flow throughout the ground floor and out to the terraces, creating a seamless indoor-outdoor transition. The first floor is composed of: south-facing master bedroom with shower room en suite; south-facing double bedroom with bathroom en suite. Both these first-floor bedrooms benefit from utterly unobstructed views of the Luberon mountain. The carefully landscaped garden ensures that absolute privacy can be enjoyed throughout the property. A series of tiled terraces lead down from the house to the swimming pool area, with drystone walls and sculpted shrubs delineating each space. Just below, the freeform swimming pool sits wrapped around a mature olive tree, with climbing rosemary plants, shrubs and colourful oleanders providing shelter and privacy. Totalling over 200m², these terraces serve as a welcome extension of the living space during the hot months, with a large pergola and the covered terrace providing shaded seating and dining options. Exterior lighting ensures this space is as delightful night as it is day. A small outbuilding houses the swimming pool pump and equipment, and a garage offers secure parking with a workshop and storage space behind. Thanks to the well-thought-out landscaping, mature vegetation and the house's tastefully simplistic design and layout, the property blends seamlessly into its surrounds and guarantees the perfect Provencal hideaway.
